Best Gift Ever Received

The Best Gift I have ever received would have to be my Xbox. The reason it is my favorite gift is because it was given to me by my dad who usually doesn't get me anything. Also you can use it for many different things such as playing games, watching DVD's, listening to music, burning songs, and a lot of entertainment. Which keeps me from getting bored so these are the reasons my Xbox is the best gift I ever received.

Score Point: 3

This response reflects a limited degree of proficiency in expository writing skills. The "Xbox" is selected as the writer's favorite gift, and specific reasons are given to explain this choice (it was given to me by my dad, you can use it for many different things, and it keeps me from getting bored). Limited relevant details are provided to develop the response. Although inadequate, some organization is evident. There are some errors in writing conventions, but they do not impede communication. Further development is needed for a higher score.
